

Summer Conversation Starters

Here are some questions to get your little one talking.

Print them out, cut them up, and keep them handy for mealtimes, travel, or anytime you want to engage your child.

What's your favorite part of summer?

What shapes do you see around you?

If you could pack the perfect summer picnic, what would be in it?

What's your favorite way to cool down?

What would you like to do more of this summer?

Who makes summer fun?

What's your favorite breakfast?

What would you do if it snowed this summer?

Would you rather stay home all summer or travel all summer?

If you had a sailboat, what would you name it and why?

If someone visited you for the summer, what would you want to show them?

Which superpower would you want: to breathe underwater or fly?

If you were bragging about your summer, what would you say?

Would you rather play in water, sand, or ice cream?

If you could do anything all day long, what would it be?

What five foods could you eat forever?
